Executive Summary

In 1967, the Hawaii State Legislature created the Crime Victim Compensation Commission (the “Commission”) to mitigate the financial impact suffered by victims of violent crime. The Commission disburses funds to pay un-reimbursed expenses for crime-related losses experienced by victims who suffer physical or emotional injury, or death, as the result of a violent crime. During Fiscal Year (“FY”) 2004, the Commission processed over 1,400 applications, including 921 new applications.

The Commission continues to pursue its mission to provide each claimant with compassionate and timely service. The Commission actively collaborates with numerous public and private agencies dedicated to serving crime victims as part of its effort to continuously improve the delivery of victim compensation services.

Current Commission projects include the Mass Violence and Terrorism Response Project (the “Response Project”), the Restitution Recovery Project (the “Restitution Recovery Project”), the National Association of Victims of Crime Act Assistance Administrators Strategic Planning Project (the “Strategic Planning Project”); and the Restitution Monitoring Project (the “Restitution Monitoring Project”). The Response Project seeks to integrate compensation and victim services into the County and State Incident Command Response model for incidents of mass violence and terrorism, and to make real-time information available to victims and survivors through the Commission’s web page. The Response Project will enable the Commission and the County Victim Assistance Programs to cooperatively provide seamless and timely services to victims and survivors of, and witnesses to, mass violence and terrorism.

The Restitution Recovery Project collects restitution payments from inmates and parolees and disburses those funds to the crime victims. As a result of the Restitution Recovery Project, many more crime victims will receive reimbursement from offenders for their crime-related expenses. In addition, offenders are held accountable for the financial losses they inflict upon the victim of their crime and begin to develop a sense of self-respect and pride in righting the wrongs they have committed.

The goal of the Strategic Planning Project is to enhance victim services for the following underserved populations: the elderly, immigrants, the disabled, and tourists/visitors. The Commission is working in collaboration with State agencies and community partners to develop a Strategic Plan that will address the needs of these underserved populations. The University of Hawaii Public Policy Center will publish the Strategic Plan in September 2005.

The Restitution Monitoring Project was initiated in June 2004 to survey restitution practices in the First Circuit and make recommendations to ensure that criminal offenders make restitution payments for the financial losses suffered by the victims of their crimes. Victims, Prosecutors, Judges, Victim-Witness Advocates, Probation Officers, Parole Officers, Attorneys General, and Public Defenders were interviewed and in-court monitoring was conducted in the District, Family, and Circuit Courts of the First Circuit. Results of the survey are being compiled and will be available in 2005.

Achieving, and maintaining, a consistent and adequate source of non-tax revenue to underwrite the costs of compensating crime victims, and to pay operating expenses, continues to be the most important issue facing the Commission. The Commission no longer receives any general funds from the State, and relies solely on non-tax revenue and matching federal funds. The primary source of non-tax revenue for the Commission is the mandatory crime victim compensation fee (the “Compensation Fee”). In 1998, the Legislature established the Compensation Fee and directed that it be assessed against all criminal offenders to provide a reliable funding base for the Commission’s mission to help restore crime victims who suffer from financial and emotional loss.

The Commission estimates that there has been a shortfall of over one million dollars ($1,000,000.00) in revenue collections (the “Revenue Collection Shortfall”) since the Compensation Fee was enacted by the Legislature. Despite the Legislative mandate, some judges are still not assessing the Compensation Fee in all eligible cases. Recent court monitoring surveys conducted by the Commission indicate some improvement in the assessment and collection of the Compensation Fee. However, there remain a significant number of cases where judges are not requiring the offenders to comply with this Legislative mandate. In many of the cases surveyed, no explanation is provided as to why the Compensation Fee was not assessed. The impact of the Revenue Collection Shortfall since the Compensation Fee was enacted is to deprive the Commission of its ability to ensure adequate compensation to victims of violent crime in Hawaii.

To make up the Revenue Collection Shortfall, the Commission may be forced to request an increase in the amount of the Compensation Fee, or to request a restoration of a general fund appropriation to the Commission, to ensure that crime victims are not hurt. Even if judges were to immediately begin assessing and collecting the Compensation Fee in all eligible cases as mandated by the statute, it would not make up for the Revenue Collection Shortfall over the last four years. The Revenue Collection Shortfall (not to mention the loss of an additional several hundred thousand dollars from the federal funding match) would have assured that the Commission has revenues sufficient to meet the ever-increasing costs of violent crime victimization. A secure funding base would ensure adequate compensation for victims and fiscal self-sufficiency for the Commission.

The Commission has identified three statutory changes that would improve compensation services for victims of violent crime. During the coming Legislative session, the Commission will be supporting proposed statutory changes to: 1) ensure assessment and collection of the mandatory Compensation Fee from all offenders; 2) provide compensation for mental health counseling services for surviving family members in cases involving a fatality; and 3) authorize the Department of Public Safety (“PSD”) to garnish inmate wages in order to facilitate collection of the Compensation Fee.

Mission Statement

“The mission of the Crime Victim Compensation Commission is to equitably and efficiently provide crime victims the services due to them under Hawaii law. In doing so, the Commission treats every victim and survivor with dignity and respect, acknowledging the tremendous impact that violent crime has upon our society.”

Overview and History

The Hawaii State Legislature created the Commission in 1967, making it the third agency of its kind in the nation. Hawaii’s program was established to pay unreimbursed expenses to victims who suffer physical or emotional injury, or death, as the result of a violent crime. Hawaii also recognizes the need to acknowledge the pain and suffering of crime victims. The Commission provides the State with an effective and fiscally efficient vehicle through which to acknowledge victims of violent crimes.

Between 1967 and 2002, the primary source of funding was general funds appropriated through the Legislature. However, beginning in FY 2003, not a single Hawaii taxpayer dollar is used to operate the Commission. Currently, Commission non-tax funding is achieved through the following means:

- Compensation Fees assessed by judges against convicted offenders
- Court-ordered restitution paid by offenders to reimburse the Commission for compensation previously paid to victims
- 10% of all Hawaii inmate wages regardless of where the inmate is housed
- Interest income from funds on deposit
- Federal funds secured through the Victim of Crimes Act (“VOCA”) - the Commission receives a sixty percent (60%) match from VOCA for every State dollar expended to compensate victims of violent crime

Since its creation, the Commission has processed over 16,000 applications for compensation from people in Hawaii who have been victims of violent crimes. Currently, the Commission receives about 1,000 applications, and awards approximately one million dollars, annually. Awards assist the victims with medical costs, lost wages, funeral expenses, and counseling costs that are not covered by any other source.

In order for a victim to be eligible for compensation, the incident must be reported to law enforcement within 72 hours, and the Commission must receive the application for compensation within eighteen (18) months, of the date of the incident. The applicant must provide the Commission with documentation such as medical bills, insurance statements, pay stubs, and/or income tax returns in order to substantiate the claim for compensation.

Annual Activity

Operations

During FY 2004, the Commission received 921 new applications for compensation and processed 1,411 new and ongoing applications. Of the 921 new applications, 884 were determined to involve a victim of a covered crime. Every year, certain applications are denied for reasons such as incomplete documentation, crimes not covered, and failure to meet reporting deadlines. The Commission gives each application full consideration and works diligently with every applicant to ensure accurate and efficient claims processing.

Fiscal Year 2003 is the first year that the Commission has operated without utilizing any Hawaii taxpayer dollars. This means that all funds come from the non-tax sources listed above in this Report. It is, therefore, essential that the Compensation Fee be assessed and collected from all appropriate sources. The Commission relies on cooperation from the Judiciary to assess and collect the Compensation Fee from convicted offenders in all eligible cases.

“Thank you very much for your administrative decision and order. I accept [the monetary] . . . award for my daughter . . . Thank you all very much for your help.”

It is vitally important to note that Hawaii now receives a sixty percent (60%) federal match from VOCA. Therefore, every dollar of Compensation Fees not assessed by judges against, and collected from, all eligible convicted offenders is a compounded loss due to the concomitant loss of the sixty percent federal match.

Commission Projects

Mass Violence and Terrorism Response Project

In 1999, an employee of a national copier company murdered six co-workers in Honolulu. In the aftermath of this tragedy, the Commission identified two primary constraints that limited its ability to assist survivors of incidents of mass violence and terrorism. First, the Commission did not have the statutory authority to provide compensation for mental health counseling to surviving family members, witnesses, or individuals who worked or were schooled at the scene of this type of incident. Second, compensation and victim services were not integrated into the County and State Incident Command Model for responding to mass violence and terrorism. These constraints limited the ability of the Commission and the County Victim Witness Assistance Programs to respond to the immediate needs of victims and survivors of, and witnesses to, these types of events.

The first constraint was addressed when the Commission lobbied for legislation to authorize the disbursement of compensation to fund mental health counseling services for surviving family members, witnesses, and individuals who worked or were schooled at the scene of an incident of mass violence or terrorism. In 2000, the Legislature passed a bill authorizing the Commission to provide compensation for mental health counseling services to the victims and survivors of, and witnesses to, mass violence and terrorism incidents.

The second constraint was addressed when the Commission and representatives from various Federal, State, and County law enforcement agencies began a series of meetings to develop a strategy to eliminate this constraint. Meetings in each of the Counties brought together County and State incident command response agencies, the United States Attorney, the State Department of the Attorney General, the County Victim Witness Programs, and the Commission to discuss the integration of compensation and victim services into the command response model. Meeting participants recognized that the incident command agencies had already developed protocols for dealing with mass violence and terrorism. Everyone agreed that the most effective strategy would be to build the compensation and victim assistance protocol around the existing command response protocol.

In FY 2004 the Commission further increased its ability to respond to the needs of mass violence and terrorism survivors by creating new links on the Commission's web page that enable survivors to access information in 13 different languages about how to help parents and children deal with trauma. The Commission and the Hawaii Information Consortium, which administers the State web page, also developed a protocol to distribute real-time information through the Commission's web page to survivors and the public about where to seek assistance in the event of an incident of mass violence or terrorism.

The Commission and other stakeholders continue their collaborative efforts to ensure that the needs of victims, survivors, and witnesses will be met seamlessly in the event of another incident of mass violence or terrorism in Hawaii.

Restitution Recovery Project

“...in the criminal justice system, the victim of crime is almost always neglected. By requiring the convicted person to make restitution and reparation to the victim, justice is served. In so doing, the criminal repays not only “society” but the persons injured in the criminal’s act. There is a dual benefit to this concept: the victim is repaid for his loss and the criminal may develop a degree of self-respect and pride in knowing that he or she righted the wrong committed.”

Sen. Stand. Comm. Rep. No 789, in 1975 Senate Journal @1132, commentary on the Senate’s intent in passing HRS section 706-605(1)(e) which authorizes Courts to order restitution.

In 1975, Section 706-605(1)(e), Hawaii Revised Statutes, was enacted to provide the Courts with specific statutory authority to order defendants to make restitution payments to cover the economic losses suffered by the victims of their crime. Since the passage of this provision, a significant number of victims have not received the court-ordered restitution that they are entitled to. Victims have found it particularly difficult to recover court-ordered restitution from sentenced felons¹ and parolees.

The Judiciary previously processed restitution payments for all offenders, including inmates and parolees. For the last decade, the Judiciary has tried to divest itself of the responsibility for processing restitution payments made by inmates and parolees. During this time period, the Judiciary and PSD have been at an administrative stalemate over who has the responsibility to process restitution payments made by inmates and parolees.

The system that was created to process court-ordered restitution payments was not working. In order to open a restitution account for an inmate or parolee, the Judiciary required the name and address of the victim before they would accept any restitution payments. This procedure created a significant barrier to the payment of restitution by inmates and parolees. In many cases it was difficult or impossible for PSD and the Hawaii Paroling Authority (the “Paroling Authority”) to secure the name and address of the victim. Victim service providers were understandably uncomfortable about giving the names and addresses of domestic abuse, sexual assault, and other crime victims to PSD and the Paroling Authority. They were concerned that victim safety would be jeopardized if an inmate or parolee inadvertently saw the name and address of their victim in their file.

Despite numerous meetings between the Judiciary, PSD, the Paroling Authority, and victim service providers, and several false starts, efforts to resolve this issue ultimately failed until the Commission stepped forward. With the support of the PSD Director, the Paroling Authority, and the Honolulu Victim Witness Kokua Program, the Commission initiated a one-year pilot project to accept responsibility for the collection and disbursement of restitution paid by inmates and parolees.

The Project

On January 1, 2003, the Commission initiated the pilot project to collect and disburse restitution paid by inmates and parolees. The Commission has opened over 755 restitution cases and collected over $137,000.00 in

“Because of the collaborative efforts between the Crime Victim Compensation Commission and the Hawaii Paroling Authority, there are more timely payments of restitution to crime victims than there have been in the past.”

Tommv Johnson Administrator Hawaii

restitution to disburse to crime victims from January 1, 2003 through November 30, 2004. Information identifying the whereabouts of crime victims is kept confidential so that the safety needs of victims are being met. The barriers that made it difficult for PSD and the Paroling Authority to open restitution accounts at the Judiciary have also been eliminated. PSD and the Paroling Authority need only send restitution payments to the Commission. The Commission and its partners, the County Victim Witness Programs, locate the crime victim and disburse the payment.

PSD and the Judiciary have a significant number of long-standing restitution cases where they received restitution payments but were unable to locate the victims. The Commission and the County Victim Witness Programs have committed to assist PSD and the Judiciary in resolving these cases by helping them locate the crime victims. This will benefit the victims and enable PSD and the Judiciary to dispose of these unresolved cases.

A functional restitution project benefits all involved. It is now easy for Parole Officers to increase the accountability of their clients by having them repay the crime victim they injured. This project also assists the County Victim Witness Programs in their efforts to restore the crime victims they serve. In some cases where the Commission provided awards to crime victims for medical, mental health, or funeral costs, the Commission is reimbursed those funds, allowing more crime victims to be helped.

“Restitution is the cornerstone of restorative justice. Saying we are committed to restorative justice means nothing unless we make a sincere and concerted effort to make sure victims get restitution – without that -- restorative justice means nothing. If an offender is not serious about paying restitution, they are not serious about rehabilitating themselves.”

Dennis Dunn, Director, Victim Witness Kokua Program, Department of the Prosecuting Attorney, City and County of Honolulu

The Commission is committed to this project going forward as it has been a win-win situation for crime victims and all of the agencies involved in the effort. However, in order to continue the project, the Commission will require the on-going support of the PSD Director, the Paroling Authority, and the County Victim Witness Programs. The Commission is not requesting any additional personnel for this effort, and was able to initiate this project without the need for additional staff. This was accomplished by converting an existing clerical-level position to a temporary, exempt position. The Commission remains strongly committed to doing more with less.

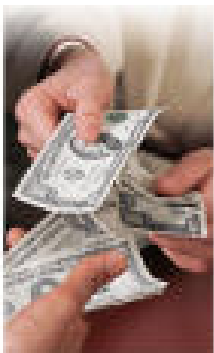

National Association of VOCA (Victims of Crime Act) Assistance Administrators Strategic Planning Project

Hawaii is one of six states selected to participate in the National Association of Victims of Crime Act Assistance Administrators Strategic Planning Project (the “Strategic Planning Project”). The Commission is working in collaboration with the Department of the Attorney General, the Department of Human Services, the Department of Health, the Victim Witness Assistance Division of the Maui County Prosecutor, the United States Attorneys Office, and community partners to develop a Strategic Plan that will address the needs of underserved populations. The strategic planning process enables stakeholders and community partners to identify the needs, gaps in services, systemic issues, and solutions to problems in providing services to underserved crime victim populations.

The Strategic Planning Project has identified four underserved victim populations: the elderly, immigrants, the disabled, and tourists/visitors. The University of Hawaii Public Policy Center will publish the Strategic Plan in September 2005.

Restitution Monitoring Project

The Restitution Monitoring Project was initiated in June 2004 to survey restitution practices in the First Circuit and make recommendations to ensure that criminal offenders pay restitution for financial losses suffered by the victims of their crimes. Victims, Prosecutors, Judges, Victim-Witness Advocates, Probation Officers, Parole Officers, Attorneys General, and Public Defenders were interviewed and in-court monitoring was conducted in the District, Family and Circuit Courts of the First Circuit. Results of the survey are being compiled and will be available in 2005.

Assessment and Collection of the Crime Victim Compensation Fee

In 1998, the Legislature created the Compensation Fee to provide a funding base for the Commission to become fiscally self-sufficient. The Commission no longer receives any State general funds. The Compensation Fee is mandatory and must be assessed against every offender who is convicted of, or who enters a deferred plea (DAG/DANC) to, a petty misdemeanor, misdemeanor, or felony, and is able to pay the fee.²

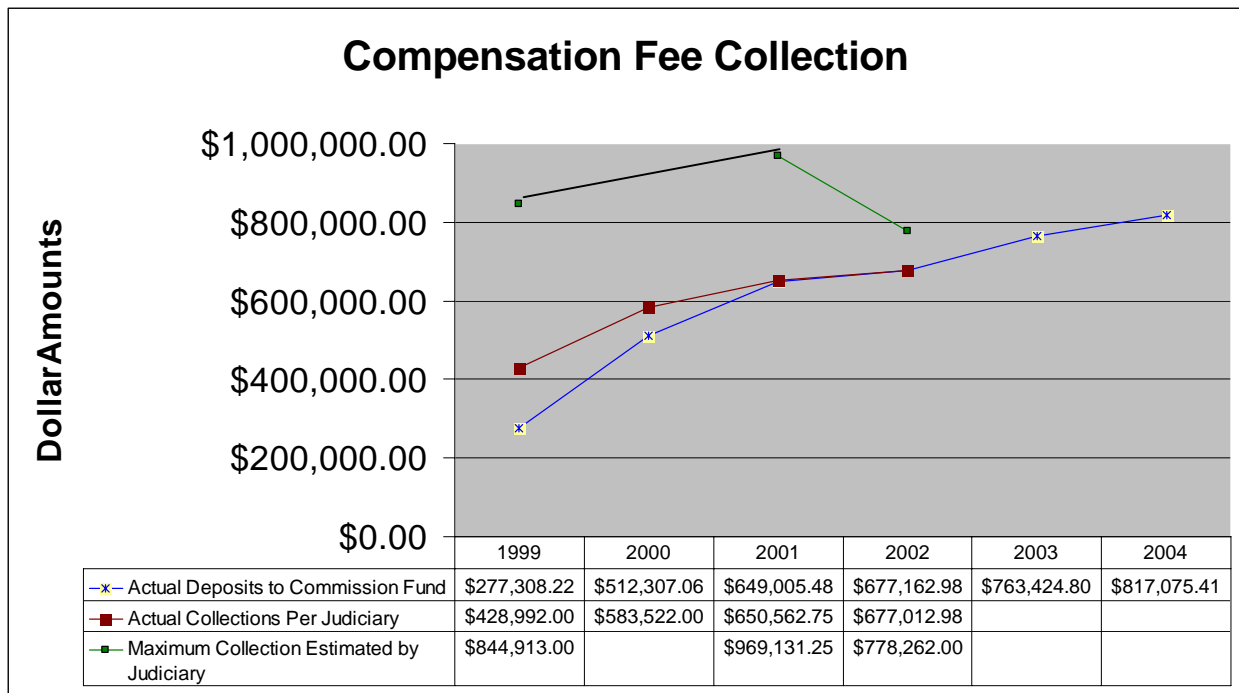

Since the Compensation Fee was enacted, the Judiciary has neglected to order and collect Compensation Fees, as provided for in the statute, in the amount of one million dollars, described

² Section 351-62.6, Hawaii Revised Statutes, provides that the court shall assess a Compensation Fee against every convicted offender, or offender who enters a deferred plea, and who is or will be able to pay the Fee. Fees are assessed as follows:

1. a $25 fee for a petty misdemeanor;
2. a $50 fee for a misdemeanor; and
3. a $100 to $500 fee for a felony.

above as the Revenue Collection Shortfall. In the first year that the Fee was mandated (FY 1999), the Judiciary assessed and collected less than half of the fee revenue that was anticipated. While the Judiciary estimated Compensation Fee revenue of $844,913.00 for FY 1999, less than $300,000.00 was actually collected. In FY 2001, the Judiciary estimated fee revenue at $969,131.25 while only $650,562.75 was collected, and in FY 2002, the Judiciary estimated fee revenue at $778,262.00 while only $649,005.48 was collected³.

The Commission received $763,424.80 in Fee revenue from the Judiciary in FY 2003 and $817,075.41 in FY 2004. It is unclear exactly how much of the revenue is a result of Compensation Fee assessments, and how much is related to fines made payable to the Commission. The Judiciary commingles Compensation Fee deposits with deposits from criminal fines made payable to the Commission. The Department of the Prosecuting Attorney for the City and County of Honolulu estimate that at least $20,000.00 in fines were paid to the Judiciary for the Commission in FY 2004.

Note: Blank fields in the table indicate that the data for that year was not available.

Underestimation of Compensation Fee Revenue

The maximum potential Compensation Fee collection estimates for FY 2001 and FY 2002 prepared by the Judiciary have been calculated at the lowest possible level. The Judiciary's estimates were calculated by multiplying the number of felony convictions by $100, multiplying the number of misdemeanor convictions by $50, and multiplying the number of petty misdemeanor convictions by $25. The Judiciary then subtracted the following amounts from this preliminary total: a percentage of cases where the defendant entered a deferred plea (according to the Judiciary, this avoided cases being double counted); a percentage of cases where the offense was a decriminalized traffic offense; a percentage of cases where the defendant might be indigent (estimated at 20%); and for FY 2002, a percentage of the cases where the defendant was incarcerated.

The maximum potential Compensation Fee collections for felony cases have been further reduced by using the lowest fee articulated in the statute for felony offenses. Section 351-62.5(a), Hawaii Revised Statutes, provides that the Compensation Fee for a felony is $100 to $500, depending on the seriousness of the crime. However, the Judiciary used $100 in all cases for its estimate. In addition, the maximum potential Compensation Fee have been further reduced in the Judiciary's FY 2002 estimate by subtracting a percentage of the cases where the defendant was incarcerated. The statute provides that the court shall assess the Compensation Fee against every (whether incarcerated or not) convicted offender, and every offender who enters a deferred plea, and who is, or will be, able to pay the fee. The Commission's Restitution Recovery Project (discussed in the Restitution Recovery Project section of this Report) clearly shows that incarcerated offenders have the ability to pay, and have been paying, restitution and other assessments ordered by the court. Since January 1, 2003, the Commission has collected over one hundred and thirty-seven thousand dollars ($137,000.00) paid by inmates and parolees to comply with court-ordered restitution and over eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500.00) in Compensation Fee assessments.

The Compensation Fee is Not Assessed in All Eligible Cases

Some judges are not assessing the Compensation Fee in all eligible cases. The Commission has conducted a series of court monitoring projects and surveys to determine if the Compensation Fees are being assessed in all eligible cases. All of the Commission's surveys have found that the Compensation Fees are not being assessed in all eligible cases.

In late September and early October 2001, the Commission conducted a court-monitoring project to determine if the Compensation Fee was being assessed in all eligible cases in the Circuit, Family, and District Courts of the First Circuit. The project also reviewed whether the Compensation Fee was properly waived (based on evidence that the defendant was indigent or otherwise unable to pay). The results suggested that the Compensation Fee was not assessed in all eligible cases, and in some cases where the Compensation Fee was waived, or not assessed, the record was silent as to whether the offender was indigent and unable to pay the Fee.⁴

For example, the Commission found that the Compensation Fee was not assessed for each eligible offense committed by a single offender. During a two-hour monitoring session of two courtrooms on one day, three offenders each pled guilty to two misdemeanor offenses. Under Section 351-62.6, Hawaii Revised Statutes, the offenders should have been assessed a Compensation Fee for each offense, for a total of $300. All three offenders were each assessed a

⁴ Section 351-62-6(a), Hawaii Revised Statutes, provides that "The court shall impose a compensation fee upon every defendant who has been convicted or who has enter a plea under section 853-1 and who is or will be able to pay the compensation fee. Section 351-62-6, further provides that the fee shall be waived "if the defendant is unable to pay the compensation fee".

Compensation Fee in only one of the eligible cases, for a total of $150. None of the three offenders asked to have the Compensation Fee for the second offense waived, and none of the offenders offered any evidence or suggestion that they were indigent and unable to pay the Fee for each offense.

These results are consistent with the Commission's earlier survey of case dispositions that show that the Compensation Fee was not assessed in all eligible cases. The Commission's 2001 survey also found a number of situations where the Compensation Fee was waived while other statutory fines and fees with lower statutory priority than the Compensation Fee were assessed.

The Commission conducted another survey of dispositions in the District, Family and Circuit Courts of the First Circuit. This survey included case dispositions from the First Circuit Family and District Courts for the week of July 14, 2003, and case dispositions from the First Circuit Court for the weeks of July 14, 2003 and July 21, 2003. Survey results indicate that while there had been marked improvement in Compensation Fee assessments in the District and Family Courts of the First Circuit, there are still a significant number of cases in Circuit Court where there is no finding on the record to indicate why the offender has not been assessed the Fee.

The Commission again conducted in-court monitoring in June and July of 2004. While the 2003 survey of dispositions in District, Family and Circuit Courts of the First Circuit found marked improvement in Compensation Fee assessments in the First Circuit Family and District Courts, the 2004 in-court monitoring revealed that some First Circuit Court judges are still not ordering the Compensation Fee in all eligible cases. During the monitoring one judge ordered fines with lower statutory priority than the Compensation Fee and waived the Fee, another judge was unaware that a second No Fault Insurance offense triggered a Compensation Fee assessment, a third judge ordered a Compensation Fee for a petty misdemeanor in a case involving a misdemeanor and was not aware that a Compensation Fee was assessable for each separate offense, and a fourth judge waived the Fee in two cases where the offender stated on the record that he did have the ability to pay.

In FY 2001, the Judiciary reviewed a random sample of 3,898 cases where the Compensation Fee could have been imposed and found that in 60% of the cases there was no finding on the record to indicate why the offender had not been assessed the Fee. In FY 2002, the Judiciary reported that in 40% of the 5,785 cases reviewed, there was no finding on the record to indicate why the offender had not been assessed the Compensation Fee. The Commission continues to work with the Judiciary to seek solutions to this problem; however, if the Compensation Fee is not consistently assessed and collected in all eligible cases, the Commission will not receive adequate revenue to compensate all victims of violent crime, and may be forced to request an increase in the amount of the Compensation Fee or a new general fund appropriation.

Payment of Administrative Assessments

Funding challenges created by limited Compensation Fee collections are exacerbated by two assessments the Commission is required to pay to the Department of Budget and Finance on all non-tax revenue collected by, or on behalf of, the Commission. The first assessment is the five percent (5%) central service expense charge; and the second assessment is the Commission's pro-rata share of administrative expenses incurred by PSD. The Commission estimates that for FY 2005, these two assessments will exceed $75,000.00. The assessments are considered part of the Commission's operating expenses and, therefore payment of these assessments limit Commission funds that are available to pay victim compensation awards. This, in turn, limits the Commission's ability to maintain fiscal self-sufficiency.

Conclusion

For the past 36 years, the Commission has provided increasing levels of services to the victims of violent crime. The Commission has streamlined case processing by increasing management efficiency, reducing case backlog, cultivating strategic partnerships with other public and private agencies, and making significant gains toward fiscal self-sufficiency. Even with all of its improvements, the Commission continues to pursue strategies to further improve services to victims.

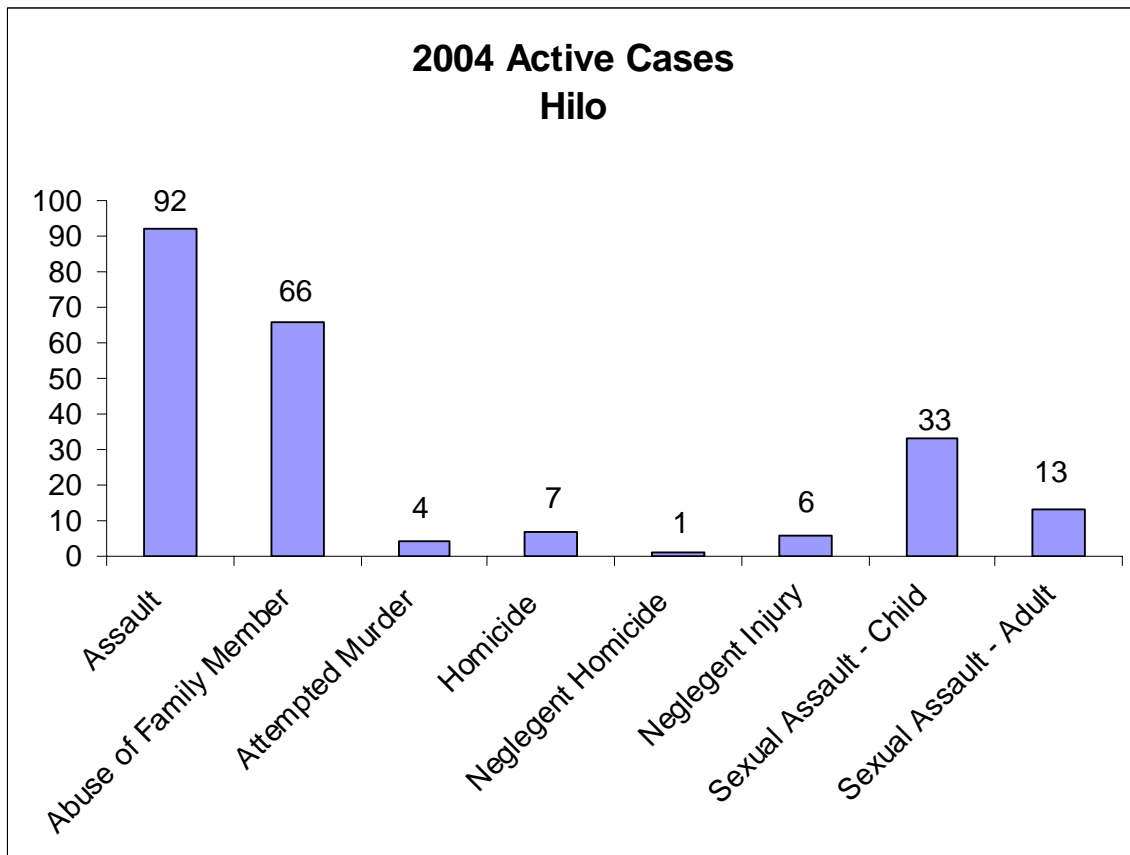

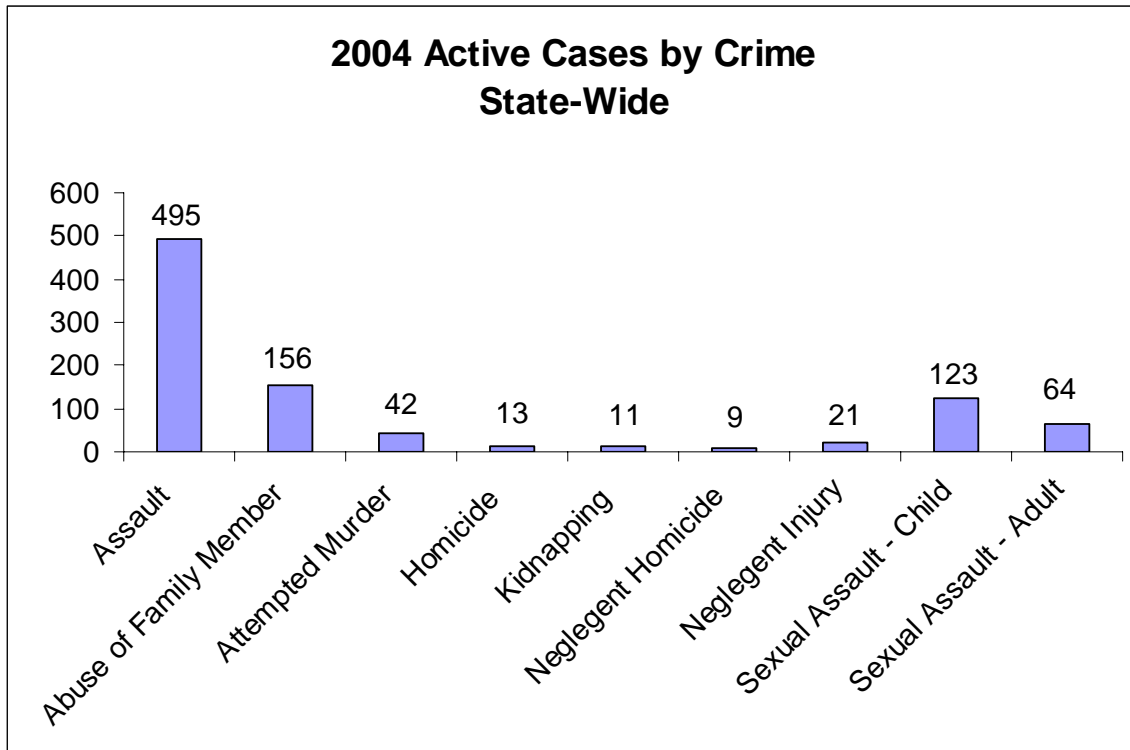

During the coming year, the Commission will seek statutory authority to make additional mental health services eligible for its awards. While the Commission is currently able to provide compensation for the costs of mental health counseling services to victims, and surviving family members in the event of an incident of mass violence or terrorism, the Commission is not able to provide compensation for the costs of mental health counseling services for surviving family members in cases where a family member is murdered, or killed, as the result of manslaughter or negligent homicide. Surviving family members need support to heal from the devastating impact caused by the violent death of a deceased family member.

The Commission will also seek authority to authorize PSD to garnish inmate wages to satisfy court-ordered Compensation Fees. PSD does not presently have the necessary authority to garnish inmate wages to pay Compensation Fees. This amendment should result in an increase in non-tax revenue collected from Compensation Fees.

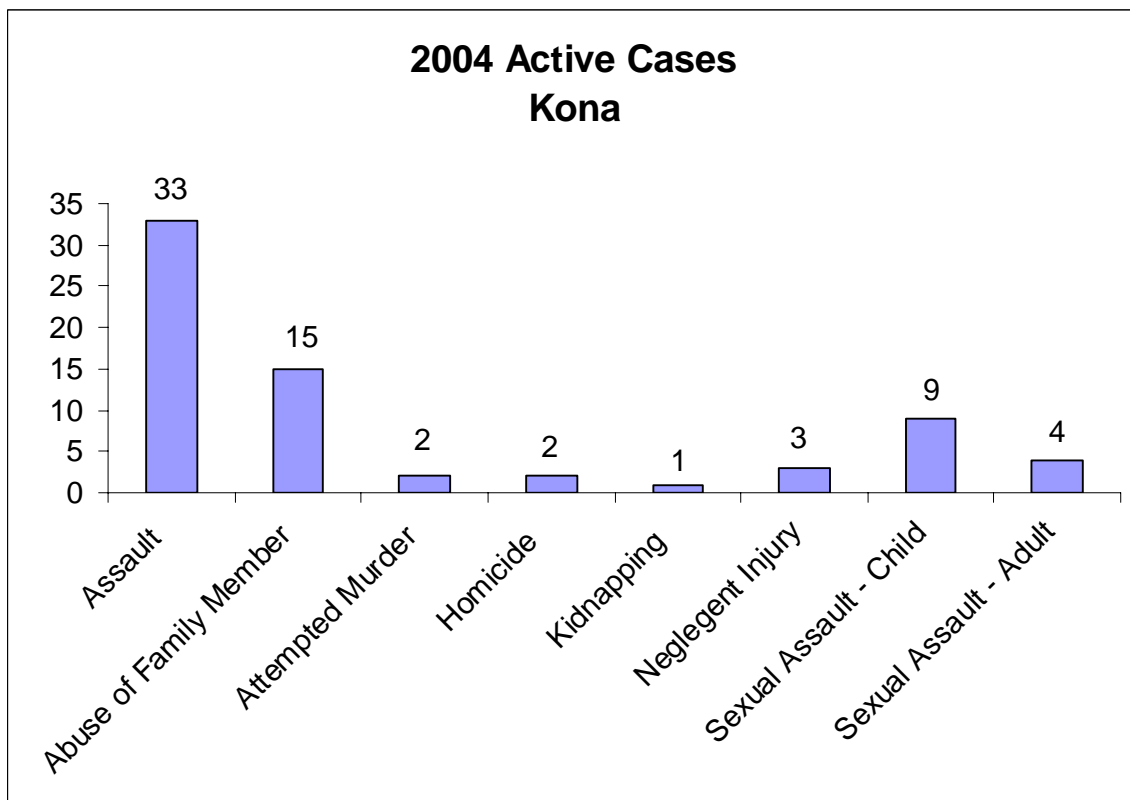

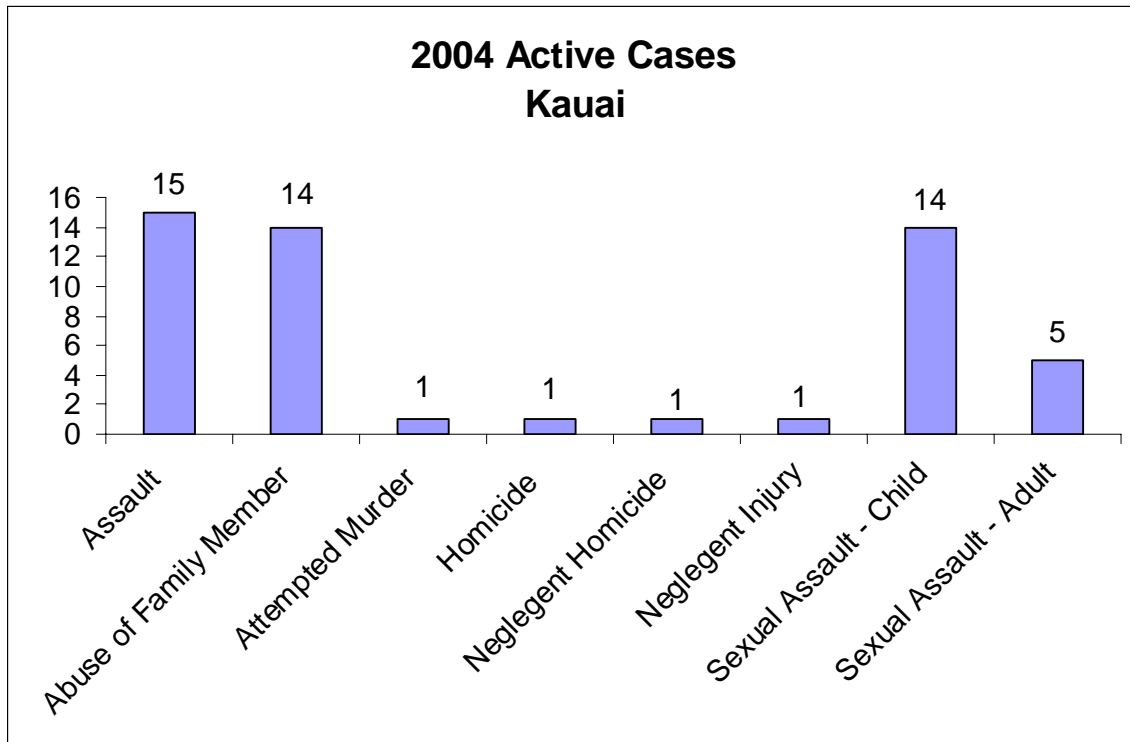

The Commission has worked with the Judiciary since the Compensation Fee was enacted in order to ensure that judges order the Fee in all eligible cases. Despite these efforts, a number of judges still do not order the Compensation Fee in all eligible case. This problem can best be addressed by eliminating the court's discretion to waive the Fee. The Commission will continue to work with the Judiciary to ensure that the Compensation Fee is consistently and uniformly assessed against convicted offenders, collected, and deposited with the Commission.

The Commission will diligently pursue its mission to mitigate the costly and emotionally devastating impact of violent crime on Hawaii's citizens through continued collaborative efforts, further improvements in management efficiency, and strong staff commitment.
