MISSING LAUMAKA WORK FURLOUGH INMATE CAPTURED BY STATE SHERIFF FUGITIVE DETAIL AND FEDERAL LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENTS

HONOLULU –Missing Laumaka Work Furlough Center inmate Michael Jay was captured last night in a joint operation by the State Sheriffs Fugitive Detail and federal law enforcement agents. Jay was arrested at 10:30 p.m. at the Salt Lake Shopping Center. He is currently in federal custody and will be returned to the Oahu Community Correctional Center later today.

Jay returned from a furlough pass on the evening of November 21. He was summoned to meet with staff and told to wait in the holding room but he ran out the front door.

Jay is serving time for Attempted Assault 1 and Criminal Property Damage 1. He was tentatively approved by the parole board for parole release on 12/13/16. He is expected to be charged with Escape 2.

Laumaka is a minimum security work furlough center for community custody inmates. It is located a block away from OCCC. Inmates assigned to Laumaka are either actively seeking employment or working in the community.
