MISSING WCCC FURLOUGH INMATE TURNS HERSELF IN TO SHERIFFS

HONOLULU – Missing Women’s Community Correctional Center (WCCC) extended furlough inmate Momi Kauhane-Malrey voluntarily turned herself in to Sheriffs last night. At approximately 9:30 p.m. she was returned to WCCC. On Saturday, Momi Kauhane-Malrey left the YWCA Fernhurst furlough home where she resides. She was not authorized to leave the home.

Inmates in the extended furlough program live and work outside of the prison facility.

33-year old Kauhane-Malrey is classified as community custody which is the lowest custody level. She is serving time for Promotion a Dangerous Drug 3 and Prohibited Acts Related to Drug Paraphernalia. Her parole was tentatively approved with a release date pending approval by the Hawaii Paroling Authority. She now faces an additional escape charge.
