FREE Webinar Schizophrenia Management: Bringing the Best Strategies Into Corrections

Schizophrenia is overrepresented in the criminal justice system, particularly in correctional facilities, with prevalence estimated at 2% to 6.5% in state prison inmates vs. 1.1% in the U.S. adult population. Atypical long-acting injectable therapies should be considered as a treatment option for individuals with schizophrenia during incarceration and as they transition to community care settings. This program will review treatment options, especially use of targeted antipsychotic therapy, to reduce exacerbation of illness and recidivism.

Presented by:

Andrew Angelino, MD, Associate Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and Chair of Psychiatry at John Hopkins Howard County General Hospital. Dr. Angelino is a Distinguished Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and a Fellow of the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine.

1 Hour of CE for physicians, nurses, psychologists, dentists and CCHPs

Supported by an independent medical grant from Alkermes.
